CULTURE SURVEYS – HEALTH AND SAFETY

This would make an excellent addition to accountancy, professional service, health and safety or insurance sector firms looking to grow, by adding value and improving their clients’ businesses via people focused services. The culture surveys will also open the door to additional consultancy income around people and skills capabilities.

The current owner has only scratched the surface of the potential market and there are excellent opportunities to grow income and profit by expanding the customer base and services offered.

The owner is willing to work with the successful purchaser for an extended period to facilitate the transference of IP and develop and implement a strategy to grow the client base and income streams.

Health and Safety will continue to feature large in the minds of business leaders for some time to come and that makes this business an exceptional opportunity to add ongoing income streams.
